MEN WHO HELPED MAKE PORTSMOUTH

Brief Sketches of Their Lives, Which Should Be An Inspiration to All; Opportunities In Portsmouth for the Hard-working, Conscientious Young Man Just As Good As Anywhere Else In The World

Lack of toys never bothered Arthur DeVoss when he was a little boy. If he wanted a boat for an afternoon's jaunt on the river he hunted up a few planks and built his boat; if all "the gang" had coarser wagons, he knocked a few boxes apart and built a wagon, little dreaming that his boyhood construction activity was to be translated into his life work later on.

William Arthur DeVoss was born in Buena Vista, December 11, 1880. When he was ten years old his family moved to Jeffersonville, Ind., where they resided for several years. They returned to make their home in Portsmouth and Arthur went to work for the Padan Bros. Company. He then worked successively at the Excelsior Shoe Company and the Selby Shoe Company. While working in the factories he never lost sight of the fact that he wanted to plan buildings, and so took the complete architectural course offered by the International College. After nearly five years of study he started in the architectural and engineering profession in the year of 1909. When the A. B. Alger and Sons Company in the Turley Building went out of business Mr. DeVoss took over their office and finished their work. Later he formed a partnership with J. D. Wilson. This association lasted but one year and then Mr. DeVoss took L. R. Patterson in as a partner, who retired a few years later to seek a climate more suitable for his health. In 1915 Mr. DeVoss made the highest grade in the civil service for state architectural appointments and was appointed to the position of state architect for the department of public buildings. When his term expired in 1917 he returned to Portsmouth and with C. M. Donaldson, who conducted the office during his absence has been engaged in architectural and engineering work since that time. In a period of about 15 years, in which they have designed and supervised several hundred buildings of all types, some of the most prominent being the Garfield School, Glenwood High School, Oak Street School, Ohio Avenue School, Office Building for The Wheeling Steel Corporation, United Brethren Church,

Fess To Discuss Political Situation

CINCINNATI, O., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The political situation in Washington as he sees it, will be discussed this afternoon by United States Senator Simon D. Fess, at a meeting of the Institute of American Government, held here under the auspices of the Women's Carry-On Committee of the Hamilton County Republican organization.

It was said at Republican headquarters that Senator Fess has been selected to tour the states of the northwest in behalf of the candidacy of President Calvin Coolidge, in event of his nomination.

Students Stage Cigarette Strike

CATSKILL, N. Y., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The smoking of cigarettes in a class play has led to a strike of 100 students of the Catskill High School, the faculty deciding that the smoking, he eliminated from the play. Four actors smoked, however, and when the faculty suspended one of them, the strike was called.

Delay In Getting Jury To Try McGray

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Impediments are being made up an appreciable progress toward selection of a jury was manifest at the opening of the fourth day of the trial of Governor McGray on charges of embezzlement in criminal court here today. Of 200 talesmen originally drawn for the jury, more than 100 have been exhausted. Statements by a score of more of the prospective jurors that they hold fixed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant and therefore were not qualified for service, drew a sharp reprimand from Judge Harry O. Chamberlain, who declared that if the men were honest in their assertions he could not see why it was not possible to set aside prejudice and hear the case on evidence and the law.

Despite efforts to speed up the jury selection, attorneys on both sides agree it will probably be several days before the work is completed.

18 Men Oil Stock Transactions Prove Trapped Alive In Sub

TOKIO, March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Graphic descriptions of the emotions of 18 men facing a slow death from suffocation, are being received by underwater telephone from members of the crew trapped within the Japanese Navy submarine K-3, resting on the sea bottom off Sasebo Harbor, according to dispatches today to the navy office here from the Sasebo Naval base.

Through the underwater telephone communication which has been established it was determined that 24 men and two officers, one of them Commander Kuwamura, perished when the forward compartment was flooded as a result of the shattering of the conning tower in a collision yesterday with the warship Tatsuha. Two engineer officers and 10 men still are alive and by means of the telephone, vivid stories of their sufferings are being heard by rescue workers on warships standing by.

Ten divers were striving to attach chains by which the submarine could be pulled up with heavy winches.

The collision which sent the craft to the bottom in 26 fathoms of water, occurred just as the submarine was coming to the surface with her periscope showing.

Crabbe Orders State Probe Of Dry Law Enforcement

COLUMBIUS, O., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Attorney General Crabbe today was preparing for a state-wide investigation into alleged irregular practices of prohibition enforcement officers and mayors and justices courts following reports of alleged abuses in prohibition enforcement in various sections of the state, especially Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati and Columbus.

Attention of state officials was first brought to the alleged misuse of police powers by these various forces in a letter from Federal Judge John M. Killits to Mr. Crabbe, several days ago.

Prosecutor John R. King is expected today to summon Justice Kuhn, of Bexley, a suburb of Columbus, where many of Columbus' liquor law violators are arraigned.

State Senator George H. Bender, of Cleveland, announced in that city that he was conducting an investigation into alleged conditions following the alleged heading into his mother-in-law's home without a warrant. Senator Bender declared in a statement in Cleveland last night that he would introduce a law at the next session of the general assembly that would "rid prohibition enforcement of all rovels and damnable practices." He declared he would ask repeal of the law permitting county agents to split fees.

Prosecutor Stewart, of Lucas county, declared following a conference with Judge Killits that documents evidence in his possession indicated necessity for grand jury action and that he intended to make a thorough investigation of all "kangaroo" courts in Lucas county.

Mr. Crabbe has asked that State Auditor Tracy send special examiners to Lucas county to check on records of justices of the peace and village mayors there with a view of ascertaining how widespread were the alleged practices of justices and mayors' courts there.

The representatives from the attorney general's office also will be sent to Cincinnati to make an investigation there.

At the office of Governor Denree it was said that the attorney general is the backing of the governor in the latest move toward "cleaning up prohibition enforcement in Ohio."

McADOO BEATS UNDERWOOD IN GEORGIA

ATLANTA, GA., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, swept Georgia yesterday in the Democratic presidential primary, defeating Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, by a four to one vote.

Returns received by newspapers early today from all but five of the one hundred and sixty counties in the state, showed that McAdoo had carried 120 counties with a total convention vote of 218 as against thirty counties with a total convention vote of 72 for Underwood.

Primary results from five counties could not be obtained and in four counties no primary was held. The nine counties have a total convention vote of eighteen.

McAdoo, Georgia native, carried Cobb, the county in which he was born, by a large majority, but lost Baldwin, the county in which he spent his boyhood, to his opponent by a vote of 828 to 497.

LaFollette Gives Johnson Close Race FARGO, N. D., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—With official returns from Tuesday's state-wide primary in North Dakota, pointing to the Republican presidential endorsement.

Calvin Coolidge, interest today turned to votes polled by Senator Robert M. LaFollette.

Brought in the contest through a sticher campaign instituted in the closing days of the campaign, the Wisconsin senator, after trailing in third place behind Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, forced into second place in returns received last night.

Returns from 1,470 of the state's 2,058 precincts gave Coolidge 42,588 votes; LaFollette, 28,103, and Johnson, 25,783.

MacDonald Not Interested In Himself Or His Personality---

Sole Aim to Restore Peace

BY FRANK H. SEDMONDS
(Copyright, 1924, by The Times Publishing Co.)

LONDON, March 20.—During my three weeks' stay in London, I had the good fortune to meet the new British Prime Minister on three very different occasions. First at a social reception the night before he took Parliament, where he was surrounded by practically all of his cabinet and party followers; second, when he received me in the Prime Minister's room in the House of Commons and gave me a formal interview; finally, at his official residence in Downing Street, the night before I left England, when a debate in the House, the great debate over Arthur Henderson's indiscreet election speech, prevented his coming to a dinner with a mutual friend.

From these three meetings under very different circumstances what impression detaches itself? First of all there is the almost unique fact about Mr. MacDonald, the fact disclosed by every portrait: he does not photograph, and by the same token he does not easily describe.

Contrast him with his immediate predecessors and you realize that while each of them had salient characteristics, Mr. MacDonald is a study in contrast.

Associates Never Did Anything To Earn Their Money, He Says

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Tex Rickard, flight promoter, told the Daugherty investigating committee today that he "got bunked" when he arranged with Jay Munna, Will A. Orr, and the mysterious "Joe" Martin to exhibit motion pictures of the Caproni-Daugherty flight with immunity from prosecution.

"They never did anything at all for their money," Rickard told the committee, adding Munna had told him he could get a law passed legalizing the showing of the pictures, but failed to do so.

Emphasizing that none of them claimed any influence with Attorney General Daugherty, Rickard maintained that the expected passage of a law to legalize the showings, he went ahead and got fined instead. When he found they were not "delivering the goods" he revised the contract on a basis which contemplated Orr's influence in "fixing it" with the New York state board of censorship.

Some results were obtained there, Rickard said, and as the contract finally was revised, he testified, Orr got a little more than $4,000 for his share and Martin and Munna each got a little more than $3,000.

"I never thought there was any conspiracy," Rickard said.

RAIN DELAYS GLOBE FLYERS

PORTLAND, ORE., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Rain, which kept the pilots stationary yesterday, threatened again today to hinder the progress of the around-the-world attempt, but everything was in readiness for the three great army planes to take off from Vancouver Barracks, Washington, and the fourth from Eugene, Oregon, all bound for Seattle. At the Washington post the four machines are to be equipped with pontoons before the fourth leg of the journey, a stretch over Columbia and Alaska, is essayed.

The rain which late yesterday interfered with progress, forcing the three leading planes to return to Vancouver, Washington, and holding Lieutenant Nelson in the fourth at Eugene, had caused last night but the forecast for today was for more rain.

Army "Mutiny" In Ireland Brings Cabinet Resignations

DUBLIN, March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The early morning raid on a meeting of army officers in Parnell Square yesterday is having far-reaching results and a complete new regime for the Free State Army is foreseen.

Among the sensational developments following the raid were the resignation of Richard Mulcahy as minister of defense and a meeting of the executive council at which, in addition to Mulcahy's resignation, the members decided to ask for the resignations of General MacMahon, chief of staff; General O'Sullivan, adjutant general, and General O'Murphy, quartermaster general.

The whole affair grows out of the army "mutiny" which was brought to a head by the issuance of a letter by General Liam Tobin, and Colonel Dalton demanding a change in the army council and denouncing the policy of widespread demobilization of officers who had volunteered to place the country on the road to freedom.

Although the executive council called for Mulcahy's resignation, his withdrawal was voluntary and it is understood he was not aware of the council's action at the time. The main objection to the Parnell Square raid was that it "went across" an arrangement made with Joseph McGrath, minister of industry, commerce and labor, who recently presented his resignation because of "muddling and incompetence" in connection with the army trouble.

To Higher Court

CHILLICOTHE, O., March 20.—The Ross county post of the American Legion voted unanimously to appeal the War Chest case to a higher court.

Case is Compromised

When Orville Viers appeared in Municipal court today he pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with assaulting Lloyd Forest, 7 years old, son of Mrs. Sarah Forest, 523 Second street, who claimed that the defendant struck her small son yesterday.

The case was partially heard and then continued until Friday by Judge Sprague to give the complainant a chance to be heard. The partial hearing tended to show that the Forest had made himself a nuisance about the Bordow storage warehouse on Front street, where Viers is employed as caretaker, and was chased away a number of times by the latter. Viers denied striking the boy.

Kinsale complaints that for a long time the defendant has wholly neglected her home and family, spent her time in riotous living, associating with divers men for immoral purposes, besides, he says, she cursed and abused him and their children, told him that she did not love him and would not live with him. HUNTINGTON, W. VA., March 20.—One of the most spectacular fires in the history of Huntington destroyed virtually one-third of the plant of the Minter Homes Corporation, on Third avenue between First and Fourth streets, late Wednesday. Two Lads Injured; Left Eyes Removed

Two lads, O. W. Cordle, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cordle of Luessville, and Levi Turvey, nine-year-old son of Mrs. Bertha Turvey, of Superior, Lawrence county, underwent operations in Hempstead hospital Wednesday evening for removal of their left eyes, which had been injured so badly that the sight could not be saved.

The Cordle boy was injured Sunday when a flying splinter from a pine stick upon which his sister was sitting, lodged in his eye. Infection developed rapidly and yesterday when an examination was made, it was found the eye would have to be removed so that the sight of the other eye would not be impaired.

Young Turvey was injured yesterday when he fell on a board that had a nail projecting, the nail puncturing the eyeball, causing an injury that demanded immediate removal of the eye.

Durand May Enter Race For Governor On Wet Platform

COLUMBUS, OHIO, March 20.—G. Homer Durand of Coshocton, who two years ago came in third in a field of nine candidates for the Republican nomination for governor on a light wine and beer platform, is expected to indicate at a dinner here tonight whether he again will enter the race this year on a wine and beer platform.

The dinner tonight, to be given at a local hotel by Durand's friends, has been announced as a "testimonial dinner" for him. He will be the principal speaker and those instrumental in giving the dinner expect to hear a pronouncement from him on his political intentions. It generally is expected that he will announce his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination on a platform similar or identical with that on which he made the race two years ago. It is expected that about 300 guests from all parts of the state will attend tonight's function.

Business advocating the legalizing of the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer, Mr. Durand's platform of two years ago also advocated changes in the judicial system that would insure trial by jury in prohibition law violations.

In the primary two years ago, Mr. Durand polled a total of 55,343 votes for third place, being outdistanced only by Carol A. Thompson, the nominee, who received 100,108 votes, and Charles E. Knight of Akron who polled 75,322 votes. Durand outstripped Harvey C. Smith, then secretary of state, by more than 4,000 votes.

Exchangeites Are Off For Jackson

Portsmouth Exchangeites, at their meeting last night, made ready for their trip to Jackson this evening, when they will be hosts to a number of Jackson business men at a banquet at the Lambert hotel.

"Play" the play will accompany the local Exchangeites, and a rousing meeting at Jackson is anticipated.

At Bigelow
Notwithstanding the many meetings held at the same hour last night, Bigelow showed her fine sense of loyalty by turning out a fine audience to the Bright-Lynn special service. Mr. Lynn sang, "I Know He is Mine," by Thoro Harris. Mr. Lynn's beautiful tenor voice harmonized well with the exalted idea of God dwelling with man. Occasionally he throws into his message "A wee bit of Scotch" which in no sense detracts from the spirit of worship.

Rev. Bright preached on the text: "The Sure Your Sin Will Find You Out." Num. 32:23. He took for his theme: "The Devil's Detective." He said he was not interested so much in the genesis of sin, but was profoundly concerned with the fact and the cure of sin. He recommended Dr. W. M. Mackay's great book, "The Desire and Mystery of Sin." Dr. Mackay discusses intellectual swords with the materialistic psychologists of this day, men who perhaps without intention have declared that sin leaves its mark in our bodies, our minds, our families and is the one force that destroys our personalities. Jesus Christ is the one cure.

Rev. Bright will preach this evening on "The Ninety and Nine." We are aiming to have present ninety-nine men and Mr. Lynn will sing Mr. Sankey's song, "The Ninety and Nine." Song service begins at 7 p. m. sharp.

Second Presbyterian

Taking as his text the words of Jesus, "Take ye away the stone," John 8:29, Dr. Francis M. Fox of Philadelphia speaking in the Second Presbyterian Church last night urged upon his hearers the necessity of "Christ entered the grief-stricken home of Lazarus. Mar yam, Martha, shaken with sorrow over the death of their brother, appealed to him for help, and the Nazarene went to the tomb of his friend," Dr. Fox said.

"His first command was to the friends, neighbors and disciples gathered about the tomb. 'Take ye away the stone.' In God's economy there is necessity for the activity of man. When man rolls away the stones, God always does his part.

"We must roll away the stones of apathy, indifference, insincerity and false humility before the Christ can function through our lives."

Great attention marked last night's meeting, and the music proved a feature, with Prof. Elmer Eade at the organ, Mrs. Ende at the piano, and Clem De Bruin leading the congregational song.

Mr. De Bruin sang "I Have Nothing to Do With Tomorrow" and "Why I Pray." Before the meeting officers of the church met and took assignments for personal work and at the close of the services a personal workers conference was held.

Central Presbyterian

"God's Call to His Church" was the subject of Rev. H. A. White of Youngstown, speaking last night in the Central Presbyterian church.

"God comes to the church with a very definite call," Dr. White said.

"He sounds the call to obedience in prayer; to obedience in holy living; to obedience in friendship; to obedience in loyalty."

"No Christian can deny these calls. They are definite; they are positive. They cannot be avoided or shirked. They form the responsibility of life. As we measure up to them, we are or are not true to the Great Pattern of God's life."

Throughout the sermon, Dr. White used forceful illustrations, many of them drawn from history, which drove home to the bi audience the sermon thought.

A large choir and splendid singing formed a feature of the services, and at the close of the service the pastor, Rev. G. Monroe Howerton expressed the opinion that the evangelistic work would prove an unparalleled success.

"The White is a great preacher," Rev. Mr. Howerton said, "and the people of Central church have done their part in the meetings. It is an admirable combination."

First Presbyterian

Dr. Warren J. Conrad of Williamsport, Pa., spoke on "The Ministry of the Church" at the First Presbyterian church last night, the second of the two weeks revival services, which began Tuesday night.

A large audience crowded the speaker, and Dr. Conrad urged the church members everywhere the necessity of consecration to the task of spreading the Gospel in the hearts of all men.

"The speaker voiced the need of the world for the gospel, and the responsibility of churchmen for the proclamation of its principles."

"To witness for him, by life and deed and word is our task," Dr. Conrad said.

"Personal work is the church's greatest task just as it was the most work of Christ, of the Apostles and of the early church fathers." The subject will be "The Old Way."

Success of the two weeks series of meetings in First church seemed certain last night, with the growing interest which is being manifested in the services.

Dr. Conrad is a forceful speaker, a man with a message, and tonight's services were undoubtedly the first church crowded to hear his address.

Salvation Army

Not only was the Salvation Army Hall the scene of a revival meeting last night, but Staff Capt. William Scott, evangelist, and Adjutant William H. Phillips yesterday afternoon held a service on the Balla street esplanade. The busy town provided a large audience for the street meeting.

At last night's meeting over a hundred interest was manifest, and Capt. Scott delivered one of the most stirring messages of the campaign. He is a great preacher and is bringing splendid messages at the hall, Elworth and Chillicothe streets, which are being heard by large and responsive audiences.

McDonald

McDonald, details which might be considered as physical appearance and personality, MacDonald is singularly devoid of such details.

To shake hands with Lloyd George was to feel that this amazing personality had already worked you to his purpose. To be in the presence of Lord Balfour was to be instantly impressed with the infinite grace of phrase and charm of manner, the something which suggests station, manner, the background which is his. As for Stanley Baldwin, his was the appeal of the English public school, perhaps almost at its best, the combination of good looks, physical fitness and the touch which material success adds.

Now when you attempt to set down your impressions of MacDonald you realize he has neither the distinction of manner of Balfour nor the almost indescribable ability of Lloyd George and nothing of simpler charm of Baldwin. He is, on first view, no more than a man of medium height, empty, greying hair, deeper eyes and strongly lined features, one of whom you would say—"Scotch" as far as you could see him. Save that his eyes occasionally light up with a certain flash as he speaks, he is unimpressive, just as his tone is without emphasis and his phrase without embellishment.

Dominating Impression One of Sadness
Perhaps the dominating impression, after all, is one of sadness, not merely or mainly personal, but rather the sadness which comes with a long life in close touch, first, perhaps, with his own privations and early struggles, and later with the sufferings and the follies of the men and the affairs in which he has deliberately cast his life and made his life work. There is not the smallest hint of the politician, and on the whole hardly more of the suggestion of the public man.

To interview a man like the late Colonel Roosevelt, like Mr. Wilson, like Lloyd George, is to feel almost instantly something of the reason for the success of each. Even in his way would help you, help the camera, as it were, to do its duty. Each of them was quite as anxious that his personality should be felt as the interviewer could be to catch it. But there is no help from MacDonald. The man will discuss those questions on which he is willing to speak at all with simple, direct frankness, without phrases, without any art of the orator or of the public man accustomed to be interviewed.

But with all the frankness you feel that the personality eludes you, or, perhaps, an even odder circumstance, that the man is not even interested in his personality or much in himself.

More than any British public man, save Disraeli, MacDonald has surmounted obstacles and broken down barriers to reach the position which he now holds. He is as we Americans say a self-made man, par excellence, but there is about him nothing to suggest the fact, much less to suggest pride in the achievement. You would say that in success he is no different from what he had been in the remoter days, when he came to London to make an exceedingly precarious living with a not too facile pen.

Now, that at the moment he is the leader of the most astonishing array of ill assorted idealists, intellectuals, labor agitators, visionaries and trades unionists which was ever collected under one banner, that he not only dominates them but that should any accident remove him, the whole force would fly into pieces. There is a Labor Government because there is Ramsay MacDonald. You are told that he commands obedience, holds affection, that he has an authority possessed by none of the leaders of other parties—and yet outwardly there is not a sign of the inward strength which explains these things.

Sticks For What He Believes Right Regardless of Cost

Moreover, if the man has made his own career painfully, he has never hesitated to ruin it recklessly. A quarter of a century ago he flung himself against the flood tide of national patriotic sentiment stirred by the War. His position to the World War not only led to social ostracism and political exile, but were also occasions when the police had to intervene to protect his safety and at least once when intervention did not save him from physical violence at the hands of enraged Australian soldiers.

Not having fought the war, no sooner had the struggle ended than he flung himself into the battle against the radicalism coming from Moscow. With the same courage which moved him to fight the extreme violence of the patriotic passion of his political opponents, he challenged, fought, defeated the extremists of his own Labor group. He was equally the foe of Sir Edward Grey and of Lenin.

In the end there is about the man and about his career the same circumstances: his personality is invariably buried in the cause. He is not interested in himself, he is not even concerned with his career. Of what he has to do he will talk with simple direct straight forwardness, with infinite reserve of words, but absolutely no concealment of thought. When he has finished you know what he thinks, but you have no clear picture of him.

Unmistakably MacDonald has what the British call "character," the thing they like best that their public men should have; but this character is not one thing but many, a composite thing, perhaps expressed in the notion that a man should first inspire confidence and then justify the confidence. If he has character a British public man may be stupid, even MacDonald is certainly not that—he lacks all the outward graces of lesser men, and yet succeed with the British people beyond all of his associates and he sustained in adversity as none of his rivals are supported in success.

Will Not Surrender His Principle

From an interview with MacDonald you carry away the impression that in foreign relations there will be no quarrel over essentials, that no matter of personal pride, no hunger for personal triumph, will control or influence him, that he will yield anything and everything where surrender does not mean sacrifice of any part of principle, but that when the issue is really drawn, he will fight to the end doggedly, unyieldingly. And so at last you come to the sense that the man is before all a fighter, a visionary with a Scotch background and a hard, human experience, a Wilsonian, but with all the human training the late President lacked.

Already almost by magic he has swept away all the petty jealousies and personalities which cluttered up Franco-British relations under Curzon, he has rejected definitely all the tricks and clever devices of Lloyd George. One day he will meet M. Poincaré in the discussion of the real underlying problems of Europe. Even on that day I am sure M. Poincaré can have the outward semblance of victory; but over the question of the real settlement, if he has taken a divergent view, M. Poincaré will find the strongest opponent England has yet sent to France, strong because in his strength there is nothing personal, no fear of a lost majority, or a departed popularity.

Lloyd George looked for a triumph in the press and on the floor of the House of Commons, Viscount Curzon strove for a diplomatic success of the good old-fashioned order. MacDonald wants a settlement, he wants peace, he wants an end of suffering misery and warfare at home and abroad. He will sacrifice himself at that end, but he will sacrifice nothing that he holds essential to solution.

Moreover, strange as it may seem, even the severest Tory critics agree, not ungenerously, that this man, discarded tactician at this time nine years ago, may yet be the greatest foreign minister Britain has known in recent times. But as I have said, as perhaps unwillingly have proved, the real man is within himself, the camera does not reveal him. And I am sure that Mussolini would not understand either his war or his method.

Coolidge

Coolidge has been authorizing about $100,000,000 for vocational training and that comes to an end shortly. So the existing budget contains the funds, the total cost is not conjectural as has heretofore been the case, 87 per cent of the ex-service men will be alive to enjoy the benefits of the insurance, according to the estimates of insurance experts who have been able in the past to figure out mortality tables, and the families of these veterans who have died since the war will immediately get the benefit of the insurance payments.

The reason why the new measure will not make a serious financial burden is the introduction of the sinking fund. In other words the maximum annual appropriation will be $110,536,564, while the minimum outlay for any one year will be $80,832,930. Such sums as that when not paid annually grow larger and larger because the interest on the sums invested constantly increases. The idea is absolutely sound because it has been demonstrated in the case of private insurance companies who invest the premiums paid by individuals and yet the number of persons who died annually is not equal to the number who carry insurance. The law of probability and mortality takes care of the insurance company just as surely as it will take care of the government's sinking fund.

The government will give the veteran the opportunity that private insurance companies give to borrow on an insurance policy when in need. No loan can exceed 90 per cent of the reserve value of the loan for the current year or the certificate or sixty per cent of the face value at any time. The veteran who borrows on his insurance certificate at the bank and fails to pay the amount back to the bank will find it expensive to recover the full value of the policy when he comes to redeem it. The banks will be privileged to go to the Veterans' Bureau in case of default and receive the amount they have lent to the veteran, with the accumulated interest, but when the veteran tries to redeem a defaulted certificate he will have to pay 6 per cent interest, compounded annually. This was arranged so as to discourage veterans from borrowing on their certificates and failing to pay up. The number of defaulted certificates will not be large, according to the estimates thus far made, and the Veterans' Bureau will be able to take care of the defaulted cases out of the sinking fund provided for.

Indeed, the whole plan is worked out so conservatively that the government may find in a few years that the amount appropriated annually can be cut down, for the purpose of the fund is not to make a profit, but to take care of the needs of the veterans.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, wages, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

I think you should finish school before you begin to fill your head with thoughts of boys and getting married. Times have changed since the days when girls married at 16. Now want their wives to know at least the elementary school can teach her. Treat the boys as good friends but don't get sentimental.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl 16 years of age and am talking to a boy 17 years of age. I care very much for him and he seems to care for me. He wants to take me to church. What do you advise? Please answer soon.

A KENTUCKY GIRL.
Certainly church seems a perfectly respectable place for a boy to take a girl. If your mother has no objections, let him take you.

Dear Dolly—How should you introduce a friend to more than one person at the same time? What should you say? What would be the proper way to accept an introduction from a cousin that you have never met before?

COUNTRY GIRL.

If you are introducing Miss Brown to a group of people, mention her name and then the name of each individual in turn. Don't try to make a wholesale introduction. A perfectly correct form is: "Miss Brown, I want you to know my friend, Mrs. Jones." With a cousin you might acknowledge the introduction with a little more familiarity than would be proper if there were no kinship.

MRS. CUCKOO IS OFFENDED

"Where are you, Mrs. Cuckoo? Aren't you at home?"

"Do climb up and see what is the matter with the town clock," begged Mister Fuzz Wizz of Dooftown Land.

"What's wrong with it?" asked Nancy.

"I don't know, but the cuckoo has been out for four hours and nobody knows the time, Mrs. Cut-Out said she didn't have the breakfast dishes done when her husband came home for lunch."

"Come on, Nancy, we'll borrow the ladder from the Humpty Dumpty Circus clown," said Nick.

So they got the ladder and up they went in perfect silence the cuckoo clock.

"Where are you, Mrs. Cuckoo? Aren't you at home?"

"Yes," answered the cuckoo from a dark corner. "But I'm mad."

"What are you mad about?" asked Nancy.

"Well, I'll tell you," said the cuckoo. "For years and years I've had it all my own way and I've worked faithfully, but what happens? Instead of getting my reward, they put an impostor in my place to mock me. Every time I go out and call the hour, he jumps out of a little door, too, and I know he's making fun of me."

"You must be crazy," said Nick. "There isn't another bird anywhere near. There isn't another bird in Dooftown Land except the out-out parrot."

"Is it the parrot?" asked Nancy. "Parrots aren't any too polite and do mock people sometimes."

"No, it isn't the parrot," declared the cuckoo. "She's silly and has gotten me mixed up a lot of times by her cackling, but she is a good-hearted soul. No, I'll tell you who it is. It's the dog that lives in that dog-house over there across the street."

And, sure enough, Jack had blown enough air into the tube to make it just like a rubber ball. He and Flip hung on tight as they were carried rapidly up through the trees again. Shortly they went whizzing past a big limb. And there stood the same old troublesome wood gyp. (Continued.)

Says Coolidge Strong With People Because They Trust Him

BOSTON, March 20.—(By the A. P.)—Confidence that "our government on the whole is solid and not tainted with corruption," was expressed by Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, of the national house of representatives last night in address at the annual banquet of the Amherst Alumni association of Boston.

The occasion was designated as "Coolidge night," he described the president, a graduate and trustee of the college, as a man whom everyone trusts.

Nation Is Stunned

"Graft, connivance and corruption have infected law enforcement," said Speaker Gillett, "and at length the track of guilt had led into a president's cabinet and the whole nation had been stunned by the revelation. But our government on the whole is not tainted with corruption. Because disgraceful conditions have been revealed, do not believe that they are typical."

He said that among 415 members of the house of representatives, there were "sure to be some weaklings," but added:

"I believe the general standard is high and that as the membership of the house has steadily improved in its business efficiency, it has likewise improved in its uprightness."

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally commanded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allen's, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allen's with the understanding that if the first bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. Fisher & Streich Pharmacy can supply you.

American Prelate Received By Pope

ROME, March 20.—(By the A. P.)—Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago, who with Archbishop Hayes of New York, is to be elevated to the cardinalate at the forthcoming papal consistory, was received in private audience this evening by Pope Pius.

The pontiff was greatly interested in hearing the Chicago prelate tell of affairs in his archdiocese and expressed pleasure at being able to recognize the work of the archbishop by bestowing on him the high honor of a prince of the church.

The audience lasted a full hour. Archbishop Hayes will be received in audience by his holiness tomorrow.

Archbishop Mundelein gave out the following statement after his audience:

Grateful To America

"The holy father was extremely kind. He is deeply impressed by the generous spirit of the American people to the suffering children of the world, and he is deeply moved by this mark of his favor to show his recognition of what America has done to relieve misery and suffering."

"By elevating the ranking prelates of America's two largest cities, New York and Chicago, to the highest honors in the church, he recognizes in the most signal manner their people's generosity and their zeal in the fields of religion and charity. Especially to the people of Chicago, since I was their archbishop, did the holy father refer; but not to them alone did he limit his praise and appreciation."

Archbishop Hayes spent most of the day quietly in his apartments at the American college.

The only unusual celebration of the day, however, was a special mass at 7.30 in the morning.

Archbishop Mundelein, aside from his audience with the pope, spent most of the day in visiting the old haunts of his school days here.

Co-Operative Marketing In Ohio Is Expanding, Speaker Declares

"What other countries have accomplished, we can accomplish here," was the message brought by Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation when he delivered the main address at the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the Scioto County Farm Bureau Wednesday afternoon in the Universal Garage.

Lincoln stressed the fact that through improved farming methods and cooperative marketing, thus placing that country foremost among all European nations as regards physical and financial condition, was held up to Scioto County Farm Bureau members yesterday afternoon as an example of what the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation hopes to accomplish through similar practices.

Mr. Lincoln stressed the fact that the notable progress Ohio has made in the development of cooperative marketing, is the result of only three years' efforts. Great strides forward will be made within the next few years, he expressed hope, because the movement has just reached its proper stage to do its greatest good. It has never before in the policy of the Federation, or developing the cooperative marketing movement in the state," Mr. Lincoln stated.

Mr. W. Brady, extension worker of Ohio State University and assistant state leader of the boys and girls club movement, was the chief speaker of the afternoon. "The past we are so carefully formulating," Mr. Brady averred, "will make the greatest returns to the next generation. We must therefore train the coming generation to still further advance the cause of agricultural progress, and enable them to reap the greatest returns from our work."

Great Demand For Pepgen At Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy

P. M. Streich is surprised at demand for new medical discovery, for stomach, kidney and liver ailments during first week.

On account of interest shown by Portsmouth people in this medicine, J. E. Young, who is now at Fisher & Streich's explaining use of Pepgen has been asked to remain longer.

Every day this week crowds of people have been visiting Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy, cor. Sixth and Chillicothe Street to learn about Pepgen, the new medical discovery for stomach, kidney, and liver ills.

The introduction of Pepgen is being carried on under the personal supervision of J. E. Young, a noted research worker and lecturer on advanced health theories. Mr. Young is known throughout the country on account of his theories on health preservation.

Mr. Phil M. Streich, head of Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy, where Pepgen is being introduced in speaking today of the demand for Pepgen said:

"I am utterly surprised at the great demand for this medicine. Apparently the people of Portsmouth were already acquainted with the value of Pepgen before I secured the agency."

"Pepgen appeals apparently to the best element among our people, those who are able to judge carefully and render accurate opinion. It seems to give universal satisfaction to those who have given it a trial."

While directing the sale of Pepgen Mr. Young remarked: "One should not be surprised at the demand for Pepgen when it is known that it has proved its merit in hundreds of thousands of cases."

Within a few months after Pepgen had been introduced in the United States over seven hundred and fifty thousand bottles had been distributed. In the city of Pittsburgh alone sixteen thousand bottles were distributed by one firm in a single month.

Pepgen is composed entirely of herbs, many of which come from distant countries. By building up the glands of the stomach, liver and kidneys it has a far reaching rejuvenating and strengthening effect upon the human system.

Among the many Portsmouth people who have been benefited by Pepgen is Mr. D. J. Hatch of 626½ Second street.

"Your medicine Pepgen has surely been a fine thing for my husband," said Mrs. Hatch, while talking with Mr. Young.

"For some months my husband had been in a run down condition. His appetite was very poor. It did not seem like I could cook anything to suit him. After his meals he would complain of attacks of gas. This gas would blow him up and press up against his heart. He would beat about his head and it would beat too fast. In the morning when he got up he would have a dull headache and feel tired and drabby."

"About three weeks ago he commenced taking Pepgen. It has certainly done him lots of good. Now his appetite is fine and he never complains of having any trouble with his stomach. In the morning when he gets up he says he 'feels fine.' I know Pepgen is a good medicine."

CAUTION: The genuine Pepgen is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy, cor. Sixth and Chillicothe streets.—Advertisement.

Hospital Bond Issue Fails to Pass Council; Again Back in the Hands of Finance Committee

May Fix Closing Time for Pool Rooms

On the table, was the fate of the legislation to provide for an additional bond issue of $50,000 claimed to be necessary to complete improvements to the hospital when it came up for passage on its third reading before the council at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Apparently, the council, after failing of passage on the first two readings, the measure was quickly "tabled" on the motion of Member Ben H. Stewart, who explained that the wording of the legislation would preclude the expenditure of $50,000 of the $50,000 for a hospital bond and for this reason passage of the measure was precluded to its proponents, as well as opponents. The vote was unanimous and then followed quite a discussion as to the status of the proposition and the question was raised as to what committee should handle the matter. The debate finally resulted in the proposition being sent back into the hands of its enemies, the Finance Committee, after Mr. Bryan of that committee, favored on a suggestion of Mr. Member Dickey that the matter be referred to the Finance and Hospital Committees and the Hospital Committee, in view of the Finance Committee's previous unfavorable report.

Mr. Bryan stated that his committee did not have the required information at the time and for this reason was unable to favorably recommend the ordinance. He thought that the Finance Committee should handle the matter, and then declared that with "pass legislation" out of the way, the Finance Committee would be able to work out a solution of the problem at an early date and report the plan adopted upon a recommendation to council.

Seek Improvements
Petitions were brought in seeking improvements on the twenty-ninth street from the trail to the N. & W. right of way, and in an alley between Grant and Logan streets.

Boulevard Improvement
Legislation was passed determining it necessary to improve Cole's Boulevard. Engineer Stephenson's estimate showed this improvement would cost in the neighborhood of $120,000 of which about $15,000 will be the city's proportion, the balance of the expense being borne by the property owners.

Recent legislation combining the offices of janitor of the city buildings and janitor of the Gallia street car stations and fixing the salaries at $110 per month was repeated last night, and the salary of the janitor at the city building was fixed at $120 per annum.

Two engineer inspector jobs and four inspectors in the engineering department to look after work in the big sewers and street improvements were also created. The former

Bond issue in the sum of $50,000 to take care of certain streets and alley improvements were approved. Legislation declaring it necessary to pave the alley between Jackson and Charles streets was approved.

Assessing Ordinances
The following streets were assessed: Grant, from the Boulevard to Twenty-eighth street, $9,207.10 per foot.

From Gallia to a section line, $7,259.52 per foot.

A proposal to connect with a sanitary sewer to the Main church, affording relief to that building was referred to the street committee.

World Aid Skaters
The following communication was presented to the council, and is in the hands of the street committee, Portsmouth, O., March 19, 1924.

Members of the City Council,
Dear Sirs:—Each year since I have been here I have noticed that roller skating season opens and some one is injured by prominent skating.

Considering the fact that we have no parks suitable to this sport, this year may we not try a new plan by which definite sections of the sidewalk be set aside for certain hours of the day to the use of the children.

And pedestrians be asked to use the sidewalks.

Coolidge To Ask Speedier Action By Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(By The A. P.)—President Coolidge will call members of the Republican steering committee of the house into conference within a few days for discussion of the legislative program for the remainder of this session of congress.

With three major pieces of legislation disposed of and with prospects for passage of all remaining appropriation bills by the middle of April, the president believes the house has done as well as could be expected in a legislative way since the session began last December.

The tax, bonus, Muscle Shoals, and three appropriation bills have been passed on to the senate, and the immigration measure will soon be taken up. No great difficulty is expected by house leaders with the remaining appropriation bills, as the two which usually cause the most debate—the army and navy measures—have been reported.

Steps to bring about speedier action in the senate on pending legislation also are expected to be made soon by the president. Through conferences with Republican leaders of the senate, the president has for some time been making inquiries as to the legislative possibilities.

Three Men Held As Suspects in Woman's Death
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 20.—(By The A. P.)—Three men were held by the police here tonight in the investigation of the slaying of Dr. Zoe Wilkins, divorcee of the late Thomas W. Cunningham, wealthy Joplin, Mo., banker.

Those held were Charles Williams, brother of the slain woman, Dillard Davis, negro janitor at her home, and B. F. Tarpley, a railroad yardmaster.

Williams denied knowledge of any circumstances of the murder. Davis, a blacksmith, said he was in the house at the time of the shooting, but he was not in the room at the time of the shooting.

Dines Not Permitted to Answer Question, "Did Miss Normand Shoot You?"
LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(By The A. P.)—The latest hearing of the charges against Horace A. Greer, former chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film actress, of attempted murder against Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil operator, which resulted today in Greer being held to answer to the superior court, developed several new phases including the following:

Wounds in Dines' body apparently caused by three bullets instead of one as previously reported.

Improvement in Dines' memory, enabling his admission to Justice J. Wilk, that he was drunk at the time of the shooting.

Miss Normand in Room
Dines' testimony that Miss Normand was in the room with him when Greer arrived and for some time afterwards, and the evidence of Miss Purviance that from the bathroom door she saw Miss Normand entering the bedroom from the living room.

Miss Purviance, who was in the room at the time of the shooting, immediately after the shooting, (Miss Normand had maintained that she was not in the room at the time of the shooting.)

Of the four who were admittedly at the Dines' apartment, three were in court today, Dines, Greer and Miss Purviance, film actress. Miss Normand is in the east.

Describes Happenings
Dines related a consecutive series of events from the time Greer knocked at the door up to approximately the time the shots were fired. At objection of the defense he was not permitted to answer the question "Did Miss Normand shoot you?"

He was allowed to say that Miss Purviance did not, and he was certain he had not shot himself.

To the court's question as to whether he was under the influence of liquor, he said "yes."

He explained that he had been out all the night before and had been drinking all that day.

Wilkin Denies Attempt To Create Discord In Democratic Ranks
COLUMBUS, O., March 20.—(By The A. P.)—Wilbur D. Wilkin, chairman of the Ohio McAdoo for president campaign, today denied alleged charges that McAdoo supporters were attempting to create discord in state Democratic ranks and dissension towards Governor Donahay.

Charges referred to are alleged to have been made by supporters of former Governor Cox. The statement that McAdoo supporters were attempting to sow seeds of discord and dissension by a statement adopted at a McAdoo meeting last week endorsing Governor Donahay, brought the denial from Wilkin.

An Exposure, Is Claim
This statement by Cox supporters, said Wilkin's statement, "instead of sowing anything savoring of party loyalty on the part of McAdoo followers, was simply an expose of the dissension being practiced by organization politicians in their efforts to discredit and defeat the candidacy of Governor Donahay, the party leader, for re-nomination and re-election."

"If there is any doubt about this, it can be cleared by taking a poll of the Cox candidates for delegates and alternates to the national convention, or if they are not above following the precedent of the McAdoo candidates and alternates for delegates, they can meet and adopt a statement to the voters, openly committing themselves to Governor Donahay's candidacy."

Wilkin's statement was issued following a conference today of McAdoo supporters.

Wilkin Denies Attempt To Create Discord In Democratic Ranks
COLUMBUS, O., March 20.—(By The A. P.)—Wilbur D. Wilkin, chairman of the Ohio McAdoo for president campaign, today denied alleged charges that McAdoo supporters were attempting to create discord in state Democratic ranks and dissension towards Governor Donahay.

Charges referred to are alleged to have been made by supporters of former Governor Cox. The statement that McAdoo supporters were attempting to sow seeds of discord and dissension by a statement adopted at a McAdoo meeting last week endorsing Governor Donahay, brought the denial from Wilkin.

An Exposure, Is Claim
This statement by Cox supporters, said Wilkin's statement, "instead of sowing anything savoring of party loyalty on the part of McAdoo followers, was simply an expose of the dissension being practiced by organization politicians in their efforts to discredit and defeat the candidacy of Governor Donahay, the party leader, for re-nomination and re-election."

"If there is any doubt about this, it can be cleared by taking a poll of the Cox candidates for delegates and alternates to the national convention, or if they are not above following the precedent of the McAdoo candidates and alternates for delegates, they can meet and adopt a statement to the voters, openly committing themselves to Governor Donahay's candidacy."

Wilkin's statement was issued following a conference today of McAdoo supporters.

Demand Cut In Grain Rates

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Representatives of nine western states today brought their demand for decreases in the railroad freight rates on grain, grain products and hays to the final stage of argument before the interstate commerce commission.

Clyde M. Reed, chairman of the Kansas utilities commission which initiated the proceeding, and has since been joined by the state governments of Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and North and South Dakota, presented a summary of the arguments of agricultural shippers for a decrease in the rates and representatives of western carriers were ready to appear in opposition.

The economic condition of western agriculture, unreasonableness of present rates, and ability of western railroads to stand decreased earnings, Mr. Reed contended, justified the proposed reduction.

"The farmer now is getting substantially his present price for grain and hay, but when he uses his grain and hay dollars to buy other commodities he finds them worth only about 67 cents."

"Transportation at reasonable rates is absolutely essential to the very existence of the western grain growers. On a production for which he receives his present prices, he is paying freight rates from forty to ninety per cent more than before the war. The traffic will not stand it."

"The sharpest competitor, the Kansas wheat farmer, has in the Canadian wheat farmer. The Kansas farmer pays from 40 to 127 per cent higher cost of transportation for equal distances than the Canadian wheat farmer."

"Mr. Reed argued that the valuation of $8,100,000,000 fixed by the commission as a rate making base in the western district in 1920, was $1,200,000,000 too high."

I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The roses have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger." Tree Planting Needed In Ohio, Says Governor In Arbor Day Message

COLUMBUS, O., March 20.—(By The A. P.)—Governor Doherty wants the boys of the future to be able to muss up their hands with walnut stain as he was wont to do back in his boyhood days in Tuscarawas county, and in his Arbor Day proclamation, issued today, makes such a plea in urging the planting of trees. "The proclamation designates April 11 as Arbor Day. "We must re-forest," declared the governor, and recounted how the hazel bushes are almost extinct and how hickory trees are fast disappearing. "Ohio boys should never be denied the familiar pleasure and pains of getting their hands stained and fingers blackened in hulling walnuts," he said. "The governor urged schools and civic organizations to observe the day planting trees."

CHARGE THAT DRY AGENT'S ATTACK CAUSED WOMAN'S DEATH IS PROBED

CLEVELAND, O., March 20.—(By The A. P.)—A report that Mrs. Pauline Pollardine, mother of five children, died after an alleged dry agent had forced entrance into her home was being investigated by County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton tonight. It also developed that Stanton had affidavits from several persons that dry agents or former dry agents had tried extortion and blackmail, and asked hush money. Announcement was made by State Senator George H. Bender, author of recent dry acts, that he would ask a repeal at the next session of the legislature of the law permitting county agents to split fees and would seek to rid law enforcement of "all rowdies and unsavable practices."

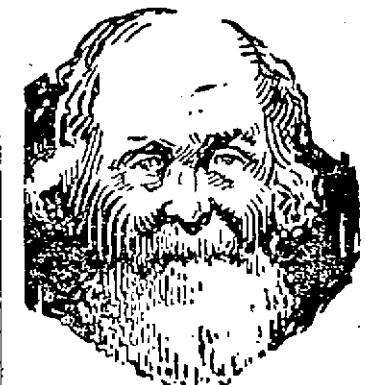

JOINT-EASE For Stiff, Swollen Joints

Rheumatic or Otherwise
Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets In—Joint Agony Gets Out"

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints. And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make cranky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did. Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need lubricating up. Swollen, twinging, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source. Remember Joint-Ease is for ailing joints—the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results. Says President's Aid To Farmers Causes Big Vote

CHICAGO, March 20.—(By The A. P.) President Coolidge's efforts to aid agriculture are responsible for his strength in the North Dakota primary, William M. Butler, manager of the Coolidge general headquarters here said today commenting on the returns. "There is a feeling among farmers of North Dakota that the president is fully cognizant of their problems and that his anxiety for their relief is evidenced upon his own experience as tiller of the soil," the statement said. "He has taken the position that there can be no general prosperity in the United States if the products of the soil are raised at a loss." "The vote is especially gratifying to his friends for it means the seeds of dissatisfaction have so diligently and widely in North Dakota, have not brought the results that the sowers confidently expected. "In every state where a convention or primary election has been held Republicans have recorded their faith in President Coolidge."

SENATORS FAVOR ADOPTING MELLON INCOME TAX PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(By The A. P.)—The senate finance committee today rejected the first house amendment to the revenue bill reached in its study of the measure and re-inserted the Mellon provision for taxing profits on stock dividends redeemed in liquidation proceedings. The house had made such rates subject to the surtax rates rather than the capital gain tax of 12½ per cent, a lower rate than the average surtax. The house provision was rejected by the committee as unfair to smaller stockholders.

A disposition on the part of the majority committee members to replace the Longworth compromise income tax schedule also became apparent today. Democrats at the same time were lining up solidly against the move, and were counting on the support of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, leader of the Republican insurgents. Should this opposition develop, the nine other Republicans would have to back the Mellon rates against the vote of the seven Democrats.

Pinchot Declares Pittsburgh Booze Sales Must Stop

PITTSBURGH, March 20.—(By The A. P.)—The second step in Governor Pinchot's campaign to dry up Pittsburgh was taken today when the proprietors of every saloon and cafe in the city, approximately 400 in number, were served with abatement notices, ordering them to stop the sale of intoxicating liquor and to remove bar fixtures, screens or painted fronts and saloon signs from their establishments. The first step was taken yesterday in a city wide raid by the state police during which 22 saloons were raided and the proprietors and bartenders arrested on charges of violating the prohibition law. Will Use Padlock

The third step, according to William P. Hoffman, in charge of the campaign for the state police, will be application to the courts for "padlock" injunctions against those who refuse to comply with the abatement price. "The abatement notices were served by one hundred members of the state police, starting simultaneously in all sections of the city. Mr. Hoffman declared that notices were served on every saloon or establishment known to have a bar and if any were missed it was an oversight and they would be visited later.

Facts about Child-birth

An eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from dread, and from much of the suffering which many mothers experience for months before the moment when the Little One arrives!

Mrs. Wm. Washington, 107 Louise Ave., Nashville, Tenn., says: "There is positively no woman on earth that would be without 'Mother's Friend' during or after child-birth. It is the only thing she only knew the value of."

"Mother's Friend" is externally applied to the region of the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves the tension on nerves and ligaments as much as a good massage, and gives the mother a joy instead of a painful dread.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Regulator Co., 24-72, Adams St., for a free information every expectant mother should have. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold by all good druggists.

Oil Stock

At the beginning of today's session the committee heard a statement by former Representative Thomas J. Ryan, of New York, who testified as a voluntary witness to deny the testimony of Louis P. Bond, the committee accountant that he had had transactions in oil stocks.

"I will ask an apology from the committee," he said.

"There is no apology due you," replied Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor. "It is merely a case of mistaken identity."

Walsh failed to answer when his name was called and it developed that a return on the subpoena for him had not been received.

Senator Walsh said that Bond was inclined to think now that he was in error.

"Speaking personally," the senator continued, "I regret that this occurred, but such things will happen."

Ryan said no doubt it was an honest mistake.

The Smith account Bond said, was listed as W. Spaid, Number 2, while Attorney General Daugherty had an account "W. W. Spaid, Number 4."

Spaid is a member of the Washington Brokerage firm of Hibbs and Company, Smith's oil stock transactions were read into the record as follows:

"July 24, 1922, bought 200 shares Mexican Petroleum for $6,300; July 25, bought 100 shares Mexican Petroleum for $10,120; July 28, bought 200 shares Mexican Petroleum for $1,580."

"August 4, sold 100 shares Mexican Petroleum for $16,970; August 9, bought 200 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $6,130; September 20, bought 300 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $10,982; September 29, bought 200 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $8,000."

"October 4, sold 200 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $8,000; October 20, bought 200 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $10,245; October 27, bought 200 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $10,245; October 27, bought 200 shares Sinclair Consolidated for $10,245."

"On December 7, there was left in the account in oil shares, 400 Mexican Petroleum and 500 Sinclair Consolidated."

"What explanation did Mr. Ryan give for carrying an account in the name of some one other than the actual dealer?" asked Senator Walsh.

"They gave no explanation," replied Bond. "I was informed that I must ask Mr. Spaid. I saw there were a number of actual deliveries of stock and I called for receipts. On the receipts appeared the name of Wm. W. Spaid."

In his explanation of the appearance of the name of former Representative Ryan in his report, Bond said that the brokerage books showed only "T. J. Ryan," but that the clerk at Hibbs and Company said it was "Thomas Jefferson Ryan."

"A man of means who traveled around," a man at the "Trade Commission," he said, had told him that Jefferson Ryan at one time lived on Sixteenth street, at another time at the Warrenton Park Hotel and then for a time at the Willard.

"I looked in the 1922 city directory and saw Thomas Jefferson Ryan who lived on Sixteenth street," the witness continued. "We looked into a Congressional Directory and there was a Thomas Jefferson Ryan, an examination of Mr. Ryan's bank account showed he had dealings with New York bankers and brokers."

"The primary fault was with Hibbs and Company who knew who T. J. Ryan was and did not disclose it."

Without hearing any other witnesses the committee adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Senator Walsh said today he had information that Wahlberg was in Havana, Cuba. If this is the case, the committee is without power to compel his attendance, and since Mr. Ryan has been subpoenaed for Saturday, it is probable no further effort will be made to find Wahlberg.

There will be further inquiry, Senator Walsh said, into the stock transactions of Attorney General Daugherty. The senator regards it as significant that the first recorded transaction of the attorney general was a sale of 500 shares of Sinclair, was transacted in 1922, about the time of the lease of Teapot Dome.

Whether Mr. Daugherty will be called before the committee has not yet been determined.

Tex Rickard

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Tex Rickard, New York fight promoter, was called to the witness stand before the Daugherty investigating committee today to testify regarding his interest in exhibition of the Dempsey-Carpenter films.

Rickard told of knowing Jap Muma, New York representative of Edward B. McLean, Washington publisher, and Fred C. Quimby, film producer, who have been connected by testimony with the picture deal.

Rickard said he could not remember ever meeting Jesse Smith, dead friend of Attorney General Daugherty, but had known Muma for ten years.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Missouri, the committee prosecutor, was back on the job today, and examined Rickard. He arranged with P. C. Quimby, of New York, to film the bout, Rickard said, and knew it was violation of law to transport the pictures in other states, but intended to show them in New Jersey.

Muma secured negotiations with Rickard, said about June 15, 1921, for showing the films outside New Jersey. Many details of the previous accounts of the "deal" were corroborated by Rickard, including exhibition of the pictures at McLean's home here. He also said there was a man named "Martin" interested in the transaction.

Divided 50-50 On Proceeds

Rickard told of the contract he signed with Muma and Martin, who signed, was to give fifty per cent of the proceeds, W. A. Orr's twenty per cent Rickard said, was to come from the interest of Muma and Martin. The film contract, dated June 20, 1921, was on the stationery of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

A second contract, produced by Rickard, provided for a twenty per cent share to Orr and fifteen per cent each to Muma and Martin.

Rickard denied that at the start of the exhibition the plan contemplated initial showing of the films before ex-soldiers, and then to have small funds imposed on "zeals" to permit further exhibitions.

Muma told him he thought he could get a law passed to distribute the pictures," Rickard explained.

"Get a law passed?" Senator Wheeler exclaimed.

"You know he didn't, yet you agreed by contract to give him fifty per cent of the proceeds from the picture?"

"Yes," Rickard said.

Rickard told of knowing Alfred Brown, local lawyer identified in the picture "deal" and also identified as a friend of Mr. Daugherty.

He said he was in New York, where he was only states where he was fined, Rickard said, adding that Quimby "attended to" sales for exhibition in other states.

Rickard submitted a statement of proceeds from the pictures, showing that films were included as "expenses" of promotion. Rickard said he paid percentages of the profits to Muma, Orr and Martin while knowing the pictures were being shipped in violation of the law.

John Phelps, alias John Lyons, of Kent, four miles back of Greenup, Ky., charged with shooting with intent to kill R. C. Crawford while in the front yard of his home at Kent Monday night, was to have had his examining trial before County Judge L. E. Nichol at Greenup this morning, but when it was announced that Crawford was not able to leave the hospital the trial was postponed until Saturday.

The wounds were as follows: One in the left leg, two in the left hand, one in the left arm, one in the right arm, one in the stomach and two in the chest. Most of the shot were removed as they did not penetrate deeply, the force of the shot being broken when they struck a fence post. They glanced off the post and struck Mr. Crawford. Mrs. Crawford and a daughter at home narrowly escaped, shot whistling over their heads.

Mrs. J. B. Wilson of 1317 Grandview avenue, a daughter of the wounded man, returned home Wednesday from her father's bedside. All the children have been at his bedside except a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Faust of Richmond, Va., and a son, O. H. Crawford, of Millietown.

Condition Serious

A TALE OF TWO SCARVES

Making two scarves appear where there were before is merely a gesture with this charming afternoon dress of printed crepe de chine from the South Manchester looms. Not content with the scarf which every self respecting little frock must wear this summer, and which here takes the form of a shawl collar, it adds to itself one of the new changes with graceful throw scarf which thus becomes an integral part of the costume.

One can face with equanimity even the doggedest of the dog days in this dress, whose slim grace and abbreviated sleeves and neckline concede to the thermometer while still retaining elegance and chic in its dark background richly patterned in a Persian design. Paris still favors the tiered skirt, and at the openings, flounces of all kinds were featured. It is to be noted, however, that the ornamentation is confined to the front of the skirt, giving an apron effect. The back is plain from neck to hem, depending for success on the cut of the dress and the elegance of the wearer.

The collar of the dress, the edgings of the flounces and the facing and scarf of the hat are all of doge red Frostrepe, contrasting effectively with the rich darkness of the silk. The scarf hat is one of the newest concepts in millinery and will be much seen at fashionable resorts. Henri Creanze, the Cheney style authority tells us that very often a scarf of the gay printed silk which fashions the dress is used on the hat to create a harmonious ensemble.

"DON'T GET UP NIGHTS ANY MORE"

No one need suffer the pain and annoyance of bladder trouble, getting up many times each night, C. F. McElroy, U. S. manufacturer, says: "Before I took Lithiated Urethra (Koller formula) I had to get up two to four times every hour at night, and was bothered nearly as much in day-time. It got so bad I could not go, any more to sleep or work for I had no control of my bladder. I am all right now and have no trouble at all." Sufferers from bladder trouble will be surprised at the impurities passed after a few doses of Lithiated Urethra (Koller formula). It acts on the kidneys and bladder similarly as do Gipsom Salts on the bowels. Try a few doses for frequent doctor visits, sending scars or high-colored urine. Lithiated Urethra (Koller formula) is not a cheap medicine. The bottle costs 50c. It is for sale in this city by The Studier Drug Co.

So This Is Spring

Once more the weather man was right. "Good Spring!" It arrived officially at 3:20 this afternoon, somewhat bedraggled and mud-spattered in a March rain. Spring, which usually comes to this part of the world on March 21st, is one day early this year, because of leap year. Good news, Mrs. Housewife, you have an extra day for the house-cleaning.

But spring bonnets will have to remain on the shelf or the posies will get wet.

MYSTERY HOVERS AROUND YOU

NO one has ever been able to explain how lost dogs and cats can travel hundreds of miles over strange territory and get back home. The force that guides them is a baffling mystery.

Consider the collie dog owned by G. F. Brazier of Silvertown, Oregon. Last summer Brazier visited in Wolcott, Ind., and took the dog along, then returned home without it. The other day the collie, thin and worn out, crept up to the porch of his home in Oregon and barked feebly.

The distance covered by the dog is at least 2000 miles. What guided the dog to his destination? Do dogs have the ability to consult each other when they sniff noses, and inquire directions? Sounds ridiculous? Well, just try to figure out a more plausible explanation of how Brazier's collie made the 2000-mile trip.

The mysterious sixth sense is peculiar to nearly all forms of animal life. Years ago, when rifles were short-range and weak compared with modern firearms, the grizzly bear seemed to sense the situation—and it was easy to get within sight of him. As rifles became more powerful and of longer range, Mr. Grizzly began to keep increasingly farther away. Now it requires great hunting skill to get within gun-range of him except by accident.

How does the grizzly know except by a mysterious sixth sense? Certainly it has been impossible for the shot-and-killed bear to spread the word to others.

Similarly, fish in a lake get to "know" trolls and other lures, according to Indians, and have to be tempted with new baits.

Scientists claim that nearly all young babies can swim instinctively. As the baby grows older, the fear emotion develops—and soon fear blots out the ability to swim. Then the child has to be taught swimming lessons. Fear has eliminated an instinct inherited from animal ancestors.

The new-born baby will clutch a stick and hang by his fingers as easily and naturally as a monkey.

Being close to the animal state, the baby—and later the child—has considerable animal instinct. That's why children are such excellent and generally infallible judges of human nature. If babies instinctively like a man, place your bets on that man.

NAMES

MORE Johns in America than any other name. After John comes William, then James. This is shown by check-up of many city directories.

Religious names, from the Bible, exert a great influence when it comes to naming the average child. Just why John leads all other names in popularity should interest the clergy, for it unquestionably indicates a very definite preference, admiration or interest.

Once started, of course, names become hereditary. It takes courage to give a child a name that isn't as common as dandelions.

Lame excuses don't go far.

Compliments don't last long unless you return them.

It is easier to give advice than it is to lend a hand.

Nowadays you can't tell the mother chicken from the daughter.

If variety is the spice of life, the weather man's life is all spice.

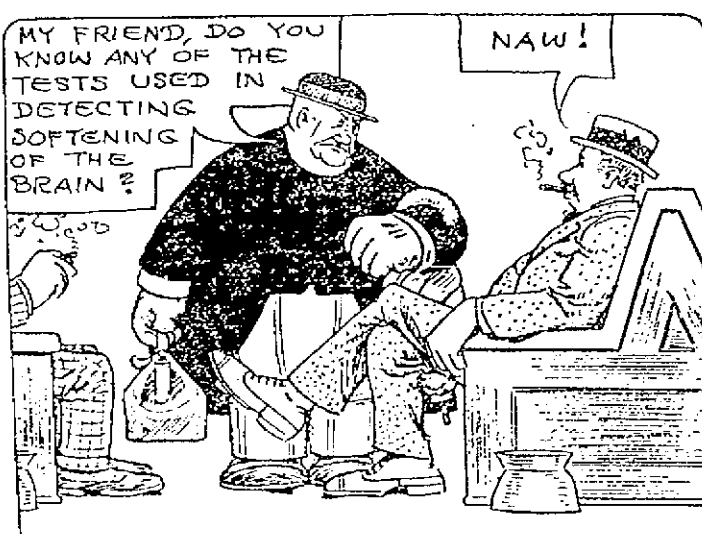

Every Saturday night the barber wants a law for daylight shaving.

The greatest smoke nuisance on record thus far is a cheap cigar.

One job worse than being a wife is working in a restaurant where it is always meal time.

ONE METHOD IS TO PERCUSS THE REGION DIRECTLY UNDER THE KNEE-CAP WHEN THE LEGS ARE CROSSED!!!

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 20—Millions who have watched the wriggly kids do their acrobatic dances in electric lights in Times Square will see them no more. The big electrical sign is coming down. The Putnam building, upon whose roof the sign rested, is to be razed.

The seven kids went through a dozen or more steps in perfect unison to advertise a brand of chewing gum. They were a mechanical part of the largest electric sign in the world and at night Times Square always had its big audience on the curb to watch them.

The Putnam building was like no other building in the country. It was a commercial symbol of life in the Furios Forties. For years the Keith people had their general offices there. The foyer and halls were filled with vaudeville folk.

Wizards, strong men, jugglers and acrobats, clotted in the reception rooms. And song and dance men rehearsed their new steps and patter along the curb. McGurk, the building's private policeman, knew more stage folk than anyone else along Broadway.

Outside of the Keith people, there are dozens of special theatrical agencies in the building. It was the spot where all newspapers got the bulk of their theatrical news. And it was also the mint for nearly all the white way's picturesque slang.

John the Barber, who harbored theatrical folk and the sporting fraternity, held forth in the Putnam. He bloomed also with beauty and manure parlors, where stars and chorus girls had themselves prettied for public view.

The nearest replica of the Putnam building is the New Amsterdam Theatre building, which is occupied exclusively by theatrical agents, producers, stage directors and stage dancing schools.

The Chinese boh, so called because it resembles the coiled queue of the orthodox Confucian, seems to have taken the butterflies of the town who seek to retain their brilliant sheen and smooth perfection. The hair is worn severely straight and in the back it is trimmed out so that it clings to the shape of the head. First the hair used to take up a larger part of the dressing hour—or is it two hours? Now one flick of the comb and the hair is presentable for any occasion.

The age of specialization is certainly here. The dapper young man whose sole duty is to dress the mannikins of a 34th street department store in the latest feminine creations is paid $12,000 a year—just because he knows how to make the wax figures look "smarter" than other window dressers.

About the first touch the hemmed in New Yorker sees of spring is in the churchyard of the Little Church Around the Corner, a few steps from Fifth avenue and 29th street. When tiny grass blades begin to shoot up and the sturdy little trees bloom with buds the cliff dwellers know summer is on the wing. The church is known chiefly for its association with theatrical people. It's pastor of long ago permitted an actor to be buried there when other churches refused. It has offered a unique haven for the rich and poor for many years and is a beautiful cloister in the city's hub-bub. The "Little Church" does not care whether an attendant is a scrub wann or a Broadway star. Its interest is in the Star of Bethlehem.

One of the well known dramatic critics on a morning newspaper was offered double his salary to go to run afternoon paper. He refused because morning work had accustomed him to sleeping in the daytime. On the new job he would have to be up work at 11 in the morning.

FAITH

(From "In Memoriam")
We have but faith; we cannot know;
For knowledge is of things we see;
And yet we trust it comes from thee,
A beam of darkness; let it grow.

Let knowledge grow from more to more,
But more of reverence in us dwell;
That mind and soul, according well,
May make one music as before.

But vaster. We are fools and slight;
We mock thee when we do not fear;
But help the foolish one to bear;
Help thy vain worlds to hear thy light.

Forgive what seemed my sin to me;
What seemed my worth since I began;
For merit lies from man to man,
And not from man. O Lord, to thee.

—Alfred Tennyson

No Scraps Heaved Overboard
(Toronto Mail and Express)

An old Scotch pilot professed to be able to tell the home port of any incoming vessel within a reasonable distance by what a seaman still call "the cut of her jib," meaning therefore by her general appearance.

To test his powers an onlooker called his attention to one in the far distance.

The pilot gazed long and earnestly, and eventually pronounced her an Aberdeen boat. He proved to be right, and a chorus of surprised voices inquired how he knew.

"No seagulls following her," he said.

Two O'clock In The Morning.
(Everybody's Magazine.)

Mr. Lay-Towers came home the other night even later than usual. He got into the hall all right but stumbled on the first stair, and his wife came to the top of the stairs with her torch, which she flashed upon him.

"Is that you, Henry?" she asked curtly.

He drew himself together with all the dignity he could summon.

"And who else might you be expecting at 2 o'clock in the morning?"

His Suspicion

"Here, now, you young cubs!" roared Constable Sam P. Slackpint, the well-known sleuth of Petunia, addressing a bunch of blawking sprouts gathered in front of the drug emporium. "Are you fellows laughing at me?"

"No, sir," they replied in chorus. "Ye ain't they? Mobly not, but what else is there on the street to laugh at?"

Ouch!

A young man with a pretty but notoriously flirtatious fiancée, wrote to a supposed rival: "I've been told that you were seen kissing my girl. Come to my office at 11 a. m. Friday, and be prepared to give an explanation of your conduct." The rival answered: "I have received a copy of your circular letter, and will be present at the meeting."
